Shoreline will co-produce the English-language feature based on the novella, "The Death of Ipu."

Shoreline has come on board the English-language feature So I Say, starring Gerard Depardieu and Harvey Keitel.

The novella The Death of Ipu by Titus Popvici. A village in Transylvania. The Nazis threaten to kill the villagers. The leaders ask the village priest to perform the burial. Depardieu will play the madman, and Keitel will portray the village priest.

Shoreline and Keitel are actors that can grip and enthrall an audience and pull off the comedy."

Shoreline will direct. Giuliano Doman and Daniel Zuta are producing with Ruskin as executive producer.

Shooting is set to begin in Romania in two weeks, with interiors and post to be done in Belgium. Shoreline is handling international sales and are shopping the picture to buyers in Toronto.
